Program Overview

RGP Consulting LLC delivers the THRIVE Entrepreneurship and Business Launch Certificate Program as a structured noncredit workforce-training program. THRIVE equips aspiring entrepreneurs and working adults with the practical skills, structure, tools, and individualized support needed to move from an idea to a responsible, testable business-launch plan. This is a certificate program — a documented record of applied entrepreneurial skill-building — not a professional certification, license, or accreditation.

Decision item	Program specification

Vendor Delivery Commitment

RGP Consulting LLC provides the complete twelve-week certificate program at the stated per-participant tuition. THRIVE is designed for individualized delivery, which allows the instruction, coaching, feedback, and launch planning to be tailored to the participant's business idea, readiness, available resources, employment responsibilities, and goals. Live coaching is normally delivered one-on-one. When enrollment brings more than one participant into the same twelve-week term, RGP Consulting LLC may deliver live coaching in small groups, with size depending on enrollment at the time, rather than expanding class size broadly. In either format, each participant still receives individualized checkpoint feedback, portfolio review, and launch-plan guidance mapped to their own business idea. Group size and format are confirmed with each participant before the program begins.

Program Value

THRIVE combines flexible on-demand curriculum with twelve coaching sessions — one-on-one or in a small group, with size depending on enrollment at the time — email Virtual Office Hours during the program, three business-building checkpoints, dedicated customer-validation, refinement, and capstone weeks, practical templates, personalized feedback, a Launch Readiness Pitch capstone, 90 days of Post-Launch Support after graduation, and twelve months in a private, 150-plus member THRIVE community. Participants develop their own portfolio with THRIVE guidance; the provider does not write or operate the business.

Purpose and Intended Participants

The program serves individuals who want to explore entrepreneurship, develop a side business, create an additional income path, test a product or service, prepare for self-employment, or bring greater structure to an early-stage idea. No prior business ownership is required.

Intended Participants

- Working adults and busy professionals developing a business idea while remaining employed.
- Aspiring entrepreneurs who need a step-by-step path from idea to action.
- Side hustlers, creators, coaches, consultants, and service providers.
- Individuals exploring self-employment or a franchise pathway.
- Early-stage founders who need clearer customers, offers, resources, and launch steps.
- Eligible youth or young adults when the program is offered through an appropriate workforce partner and adapted to participant needs.

Program Outcome

By the end of the program, a participant who completes the required work will have a defined business direction, clearer target customer, evidence of a customer problem or opportunity, a practical MVP or starter offer, a simple startup budget and resource forecast, a value proposition and short pitch, a funding approach, and a completed THRIVE Business Launch Portfolio. The portfolio includes a concise written business plan, a focused Marketing Portfolio, and a personalized 90-Day Launch Plan.

The THRIVE Framework

Framework element	Business application
T Target Identification	Select the idea, customer, problem, opportunity, and desired result.
H Holistic Point of View	Consider the customer, market, mission, life responsibilities, risks, and broader context.
R Resource Allocation	Identify time, money, skills, tools, people, startup costs, resource gaps, and possible funding approaches.
I Implementation Strategies	Turn the idea into an MVP, operating steps, priorities, schedule, and accountability rhythm.
V Value Proposition	Clarify the offer, customer benefit, message, price considerations, pitch, and marketing approach.
E Evolve and Scale	Test the idea, learn from feedback, improve the model, launch responsibly, and plan the next stage.

Delivery Model

Component	Participant experience
On-demand learning	The participant completes 19 short, podcast-style video or audio lessons on a weekly schedule using desktop or mobile access.
Business Launch Playbooks	Each lesson includes a matching quick-reference playbook with examples, frameworks, tools, and implementation guidance.
Weekly coaching	One 60-minute coaching session each week — one-on-one or in a small group, with size depending on enrollment — provides clarification, individualized feedback, decision support, and accountability.
Virtual Office Hours	Between sessions, the participant may submit brief curriculum and implementation questions by email. A coach typically responds before close of business, but no later than 48 hours.
Applied work	The participant uses the lessons and tools to research customers, review competitors, estimate needs, build an MVP, shape an offer, and prepare a launch.
Three checkpoints	Clarity, Offer, and Launch checkpoints keep the learner focused without adding unnecessary academic work.
Final launch conversation	The participant walks through the completed Business Launch Portfolio and identifies the first three actions to execute.
Post-Launch Support	For 90 days after certificate issuance, the participant may email brief post-launch questions to a coach as they apply what they learned. It is application support, not new coaching sessions, document review, or done-for-you services.

The program is intentionally practical. It does not rely on lengthy exams, research papers, or letter grades. Completion is verified through lesson progress, coaching participation, required checkpoints, and the finished Business Launch Portfolio.

Twelve Week Program Schedule

The twelve weeks follow the THRIVE Framework in order. Lessons are paced at one to three per week so participants have room to apply each lesson to their own business before moving on, and the final three weeks are reserved for real-world customer testing, refinement, and the capstone.

Week	Date	On-demand lessons	Focus	Weekly result
1	Thu, Oct 29, 2026, 6-7 PM	Lessons 1 to 2	Idea discovery, initiative, and goals.	Chosen idea, reason for pursuing it, primary goal, and initial questions.

* Week 5's session moves to Wednesday to avoid Thanksgiving (Thursday, November 26, 2026); it returns to the regular Thursday, 6-7 PM slot for Week 6.

 No sessions are held the weeks of Christmas Eve (Thursday, December 24) and New Year's Eve (Thursday, December 31). Sessions resume with Week 9 on Thursday, January 7, 2027. Veterans Day (Wednesday, November 11) and Martin Luther King Jr. Day (Monday, January 18) do not affect the Thursday schedule.

Weekly Live Coaching Structure

Time	Purpose
First 10 minutes	Review progress, recognize wins, and confirm completed work.
Next 15 minutes	Discuss the assigned lessons and answer questions.
Next 20 minutes	Apply the content directly to the participant's business idea.
Next 10 minutes	Make decisions, review the weekly checkpoint, and address obstacles.
Final 5 minutes	Confirm the next lessons, actions, support needed, and accountability commitment.

Example Program Term

Milestone	Date
Enrollment and welcome materials due	Friday, October 23, 2026
On-demand course opens	Tuesday, October 27, 2026
Live coaching sessions (Weeks 1 to 4)	Thursdays, October 29 through November 19, 2026, 6-7 PM
Week 5 session (moved for Thanksgiving)	Wednesday, November 25, 2026, 6-7 PM

Program completion and certificate issuance	Tuesday, February 2, 2027

Each future enrollment will receive a written start date, end date, twelve session dates, and weekly lesson schedule before the program begins. Any session that falls on a federal holiday will be moved to an alternate day that same week, with advance notice.

Virtual Office Hours

Virtual Office Hours extend support between the weekly coaching sessions without creating an unlimited consulting arrangement. Participants may submit brief questions by email about the current lesson, playbook, checkpoint, or implementation decision. A THRIVE coach typically responds before close of business, but no later than 48 hours. Questions requiring extended discussion are carried into the next coaching session. Virtual Office Hours do not include on-demand meetings, unlimited document editing, legal or financial advice, or done-for-you business services.

Post-Launch Support (First 90 Days After Certificate Issuance)

THRIVE does not end when the twelve weeks are over. For the first 90 days after certificate issuance, graduates keep email access to a THRIVE coach for brief questions that come up as they actually launch — pricing a first sale, handling early customer feedback, deciding on a next step the Business Launch Portfolio did not anticipate. A coach typically responds before close of business, but no later than 48 hours. Post-Launch Support does not include new coaching sessions, document review, or done-for-you services; the participant applies what the program taught, and THRIVE remains the support behind them while they do it.

The THRIVE Community — A Built-In Network

Graduates do not finish THRIVE and go it alone. Every participant receives twelve months of access to the private THRIVE Business Idea Launch Community, a network of more than 150 members. It is where graduates continue to receive encouragement and insight from people further down the same road, gain exposure for their business, and build the networking relationships that help turn a first sale into a real customer base. For a program built around moving someone from idea to action, the Community is what keeps that momentum going long after the twelve weeks end.

Included Program Resources

- 19 focused Business Launch video or audio lessons.
- 19 Business Launch Playbooks.
- 75-plus Ready-to-Launch Business Ideas Library.
- Business-plan, marketing, budgeting, validation, MVP, and launch-planning templates.
- AI-Powered Entrepreneur Toolkit.
- Market Research and Validation Toolkit.
- MVP Launch Blueprint and Business Startup Toolkit.
- Startup Budget and Resource Forecast.
- Funding Options and Trade-Offs Guide.
- SOP Legacy System.
- 90-Day Business Launch Plan template.
- Twelve live coaching sessions, one-on-one or in a small group.
- Email access to coaches during designated Virtual Office Hours.
- Individual feedback on three required checkpoints and one consolidated review of the final portfolio.
- Launch Readiness Pitch capstone and certificate.
- Ninety days of Post-Launch Support by email after program completion.
- Twelve months of continued access after program completion to the core curriculum, course tools, and new general resources added to the learning library during the access period.
- Twelve months of access to the private THRIVE Business Idea Launch Community — 150-plus members — for encouragement, insight, business exposure, and networking opportunities.

Business Launch Portfolio

The participant develops one integrated body of work rather than a collection of disconnected assignments. Completed playbooks and checkpoint decisions are organized into the THRIVE Business Launch Portfolio, which includes:

- A concise, practical written business plan covering the business concept, customer, offer, market, operations, startup needs, and financial assumptions.
- A focused Marketing Portfolio containing the customer profile, value proposition, elevator pitch, offer description, three sample promotional messages, and a 30-day marketing calendar.
- A personalized 90-Day Business Launch Plan with priorities, dates, responsibilities, and measures of progress.

Starter Website Mock-Up

A participant who completes the required website-content worksheet and supplies all requested text, images, links, and contact information by the stated deadline will receive a one-page starter website mock-up (design concept) with one revision round. THRIVE provides the mock-up only and does not build, publish, host, or maintain a live website. The participant is responsible for setting up their own domain and hosting, building or publishing the live site, and all associated launch costs, including domain, hosting, website-builder, software, and premium-service fees. The mock-up is a launch support benefit and is not required to earn the certificate.

Entrepreneurial Skills Regulatory Alignment

THRIVE provides the basics of starting and operating a small business and develops the skills identified in 20 CFR 681.560. The program combines entrepreneurship education with individualized enterprise-development support and applied business-building experience.

Regulatory skill	THRIVE instruction and application	Evidence of learning
Take initiative	Weekly action commitments, accountability coaching, MVP development, and a dated 90-Day Launch Plan move the participant from consideration to action.	Completed checkpoints, first three actions, and dated plan.
Identify business opportunities	Idea discovery, the Business Ideas Library, customer-problem research, competitor review, market validation, and AI-assisted brainstorming develop opportunity-recognition skills.	Chosen idea, customer and problem definition, research notes, and opportunity decision.
Develop budgets and forecast needs	Resource Allocation covers startup costs, time, tools, skills, people, available resources, and gaps.	Startup Budget and Resource Forecast.
Understand capital options and trade-offs	The program introduces self-funding, pre-sales, grants, loans, crowdfunding, investors, and partner resources and compares cost, risk, repayment, control, timing, eligibility, and readiness.	Funding Options and Trade-Offs Guide with one selected approach.
Communicate and market ideas	Value-proposition work, offer design, elevator-pitch practice, marketing, customer outreach, and launch planning develop communication and self-marketing.	Value statement, short pitch, offer, outreach approach, and Launch Plan.

Teaching Approaches

Approach	How THRIVE applies it
Entrepreneurship education	Nineteen lessons introduce the values and basics of starting and operating a business. The participant builds a concise, practical business plan and supporting launch portfolio instead of a lengthy academic document.
Enterprise development	Weekly coaching — one-on-one or in a small group, with size depending on enrollment — provides individualized attention to the viability and development of the participant's idea. Mentors, tools, launch review, and referrals support continued development.
Experiential learning	Customer discovery, competitor research, vendor pricing, budgeting, offer creation, MVP development, pitch practice, and a real or simulated market test provide practical application.
Partner-supported experience	When required by a youth or workforce contract, THRIVE may coordinate with approved partners for job shadowing, internships, apprenticeships, youth enterprises, financing referrals, or other services. Availability is not guaranteed without a formal partnership.

Regulatory reference: 20 CFR 681.560, Entrepreneurial Skills Training. RGP Consulting LLC maintains the curriculum, participation records, completion documentation, and supporting program materials required for vendor administration and workforce-program reporting.

Completion Requirements

Requirement	Completion standard
On-demand curriculum	Complete all 19 lessons during the program term.
Live coaching	Attend at least ten of the first eleven coaching sessions and complete an approved make-up check-in when needed.
Clarity checkpoint (Week 3)	Complete the business idea, target customer, and customer-problem sections.
Offer checkpoint (Week 7)	Complete the MVP, value proposition, simple offer, budget, resource, and funding sections.
Launch checkpoint (Week 11)	Complete the customer outreach, pilot feedback, launch approach, Marketing Portfolio, and 90-Day Business Launch Plan.
Final portfolio	Submit the completed Business Launch Portfolio, including the concise written business plan, Marketing Portfolio, and 90-Day Launch Plan.
Capstone (Week 12)	Deliver the live Launch Readiness Pitch presenting the completed Business Launch Portfolio, and identify the first three actions.
Certificate award	Meet all essential requirements. Incomplete work may be revised with coach guidance before the program end date or approved extension.

The coach records each requirement as Complete, Needs Revision, or Complete After Revision. This approach verifies learning while preserving the program's accessible, implementation-focused design. Meeting these standards earns a certificate of completion, not a professional certification or license.

Tuition and Total Program Hours

The all-inclusive tuition is $5,499 per participant for a defined 72-hour program. Coaching is delivered one-on-one or, when enrollment allows, in small groups, with size depending on enrollment at the time, requiring customized review, participant-specific research and feedback, progress tracking, and launch-plan development regardless of format.

What the Tuition Covers

- All required instructional content, playbooks, templates, and participant resources.
- Twelve live coaching sessions, one-on-one or in a small group.
- Email support during designated Virtual Office Hours.
- Individualized checkpoint feedback and one consolidated review of the final Business Launch Portfolio.
- A one-page starter website mock-up (design concept only) for participants who submit the required content on time. Domain, hosting, site setup, and launch costs are the participant's responsibility.
- Ninety days of Post-Launch Support after graduation, followed by twelve months of post-program curriculum, tool-library, and access to the 150-plus member THRIVE community.
- Progress and completion tracking.
- Launch Readiness Pitch capstone and certificate issuance.
- A concise sponsor outcomes summary when required by the funding agreement and permitted by applicable privacy requirements.
- No required textbook or separate instructional-material fee.

Participant Support and Accessibility

- Course content can be watched or heard using desktop or mobile access.
- Short lessons and weekly pacing accommodate working adults and participants with family responsibilities.
- Weekly coaching provides a consistent opportunity to ask questions and address barriers.
- Designated email Virtual Office Hours provide brief clarification between coaching sessions.
- Participants receive clear weekly instructions identifying the lessons, resources, coaching date, and checkpoint.
- Reasonable accommodation requests will be addressed through the provider and funding-program process.
- Referrals may be made to appropriate partners for legal, accounting, licensing, lending, grant, workforce, or specialized business services.

Program Boundaries

THRIVE provides entrepreneurship education, templates, coaching, feedback, tools, community access, and referrals. The participant remains responsible for research, written content, business decisions, assignments, and implementation. Coaches guide and review the work but do not write or operate the participant's business. THRIVE does not provide legal, tax, accounting, lending, investment, full-service marketing, or unlimited consulting services. Completion does not guarantee business formation, revenue, funding, profitability, licensure, employment, website traffic, or approval from another agency. Loans, grants, internships, apprenticeships, partner services, and exposure opportunities remain subject to eligibility, availability, and the independent decisions of the applicable organizations.

Provider Qualifications

RGP Consulting LLC has provided business, leadership, and employee-development services since 2017. THRIVE Business Idea Launch Accelerator is a program of RGP Consulting LLC designed around practical entrepreneurship, implementation, accountability, coaching, and responsible business launch.

Student Program Guide

This section may be shared directly with a prospective or enrolled participant.

What You Are Joining

THRIVE is a twelve-week online entrepreneurship program for people who are ready to stop carrying an idea and start building it. You will work through 19 short on-demand lessons at your own pace, use practical Business Launch Playbooks, meet with a THRIVE coach once a week — one-on-one or in a small group, with size depending on enrollment — test your idea with real prospective customers, refine it based on what you learn, and close the program with a live Launch Readiness Pitch. You may also submit brief questions by email during designated Virtual Office Hours.

You are not expected to arrive with a finished business plan. You are expected to be willing to think, research, make decisions, talk with potential customers, complete practical activities, and take the next step.

What You Will Receive

- 19 short video or audio lessons.
- 19 matching Business Launch Playbooks.
- Twelve coaching sessions, delivered one-on-one or in a small group, with size depending on enrollment.
- Email access to coaches during designated Virtual Office Hours.
- Templates, business-startup tools, an AI toolkit, a market-validation toolkit, an MVP blueprint, and a 90-Day Business Launch Plan.
- Personalized feedback on your idea, customer, offer, resources, message, and next steps.
- One consolidated review of your completed Business Launch Portfolio, plus dedicated weeks to test your idea with real prospective customers and refine it before you pitch.
- A one-page starter website mock-up (design concept only) when you complete and submit the required website content by the deadline. You handle your own domain, hosting, site setup, and all costs of launching the live site.
- Ninety days of Post-Launch Support by email after you complete the program.
- Twelve months of continued access after graduation to the core curriculum, course tools, and new general resources added during your access period.
- Twelve months of access to the private THRIVE Business Idea Launch Community — 150-plus members strong — for encouragement, insight, exposure, and networking as you get your business going.
- A live Launch Readiness Pitch capstone and Coach Evaluation & Growth Report.
- A certificate when you complete the program requirements.

What You Will Build

Portfolio section	Your result
Your idea	A clear explanation of what you are building and why it matters.
Your customer	The people you want to serve and the problem or need you will address.
Your offer	What you will provide and the value it creates.
Your MVP	The simplest useful version you can test, sell, or deliver.
Your resources	A startup budget, resource forecast, gaps, and preferred funding approach.
Your business plan	A concise written plan that organizes your business concept, customer, market, offer, operations, startup needs, and financial assumptions.
Your marketing portfolio	A customer profile, value proposition, elevator pitch, offer description, three sample promotional messages, and a 30-day marketing calendar.
Your launch	A realistic market test or launch decision, refined by real customer feedback.
Your next 90 days	Priorities, action dates, support needed, and measures of progress.

Your Weekly Rhythm

The program totals 72 hours across twelve weeks — lessons and playbooks, applied research and business-building work, and live coaching. Most weeks run approximately 6 hours. Weeks 10 and 11 are dedicated to testing your idea with real customers and refining it, and Week 12 is for preparing and delivering your capstone pitch. A two-week winter break separates Weeks 8 and 9. Watch or listen to the assigned lessons, use the matching playbooks, complete the practical task, and bring your questions and work to coaching. Your coach will help you make decisions and move forward, but you are responsible for completing the work and taking action.

Support Between Sessions

You may email brief questions about your current lesson, playbook, checkpoint, or implementation decision during designated Virtual Office Hours. A coach typically responds before close of business, but no later than 48 hours. Longer discussions will be addressed during your next coaching appointment. Virtual Office Hours do not include unlimited document editing or on-demand meetings.

How You Earn the Certificate

- Complete all 19 lessons.
- Attend at least ten of the first eleven coaching sessions and complete any approved make-up check-in.
- Complete the Clarity, Offer, and Launch checkpoints.
- Submit your completed Business Launch Portfolio, including your concise written business plan, Marketing Portfolio, and 90-Day Launch Plan.
- Deliver your live Launch Readiness Pitch capstone and identify your first three actions.

Your Investment

Total program tuition is $5,499 for the complete 72-hour program. This includes all required lessons, playbooks, tools, templates, twelve coaching sessions (one-on-one or in a small group, sized to enrollment at the time), designated email Virtual Office Hours, checkpoint feedback, one consolidated portfolio review, a starter website mock-up, your Launch Readiness Pitch capstone, 90 days of Post-Launch Support, 12 months of continued curriculum and 150-plus member THRIVE community access, certificate administration, and 30-day follow-up. There are no required textbook or instructional-material fees. The website benefit is a mock-up only: you are responsible for your own domain, hosting, site setup, and all costs associated with launching your website.

Your Role in the Program

THRIVE supplies the structure, instruction, templates, coaching, feedback, and accountability. You are responsible for conducting research, completing the playbooks, writing your business and marketing content, making decisions, supplying website materials, and carrying out your launch plan. Your coach will guide and review your work but will not write or operate your business for you.

What THRIVE Does Not Promise

THRIVE will provide education, structure, coaching, resources, and accountability. Your business results will depend on your idea, effort, decisions, market, resources, and follow-through. Participation does not guarantee revenue, funding, business approval, licensing, profitability, or a specific employment result.

Your Next Step

At enrollment, you will receive a welcome message, course-access instructions, your twelve-week schedule, coaching appointments, and the first lessons. Come ready to build, ask questions, and take action.

Decision Ready Summary

Question	Answer
Is this a defined certificate program?	Yes. It has a twelve-week term, organized curriculum, coaching, completion standards, a live capstone, and a certificate.
Is it primarily online and flexible?	Yes. Nineteen lessons are on demand; live coaching occurs once each week.
